About Antonio A

I am an IT Professional working for Motorola Solutions as a Performance Test Engineer. I am a composed and organised person looking for a place to rent with my partner of 6 years and a close friend of ours. I like to spend my time learning new things, whether that be trying new cooking recipes or taking up interesting projects at home. For the past 10 years, I've volunteered for the Edmund Rice Camps, a non-profit charity aimed to provide a quality summer camp experience to children in a way that allows both children and young student leaders to more fully realise their potential. I love adding boards games and vinyl to my ever expanding collection with my partner.
